

Carin Goodman

Carin Goodman was born in London, England during the war but grew up in Sweden. She has taught in Sweden, Italy, England and Canada. The last 38 years have been spent in Canada with her English husband, whom she met in Italy. They have a son and a daughter and grandchildren, who make her life both interesting and exciting. In her retirement, she has been able to travel extensively, partly thanks to wonderful teaching opportunities along the way.

Reason for the walk

Carin needed to feel that in spite of turning 65, life was not over!

The pilgrimage from Roncesvalles in Spain to Santiago de Compostela proved not only that but took her on an inner journey far beyond her imagination. Beauty in scenery, new friendships amongst fellow pilgrims and the kindness shown by the peasants she passed, left her with a wonderful feeling of richness in soul.

The pilgrimage was a passage that not only heightened all her senses but changed her persona. Blisters, aches and pains did not deter her from continuing the walk.

Now, she is left with a desire to go back and recoup, once again the magic of the Camino.
