

Pam Buell

Communications Manager
Eastern Ontario Field Unit
Parks Canada

Pam has been involved in the heritage community in various capacities for over 25 years. Her formal educational background is in history (B.A. McGill University) and museum studies (Diploma in Museum Studies, Algonquin College and M.A. in History Museum Studies, Cooperstown Graduate Programme, New York). She has worked in community museums and archives, historic sites and government agencies as a curator, planner, site manager, and superintendent.

She is presently the Communication Manager for Parks Canada in Eastern Ontario where she was the Project Manager for the designation of the Rideau Canal as Ontario's first World Heritage Site and the highly successful 175th anniversary celebrations in 2007.